

FOUND IN A SALOON

A Girl Goes Wrong and Winds Up in Jail.

MAGGIE DAYTON'S SAD STORY

Her Mother Rescues Her from Evil Companions and Plots for Her Reformation from a Life of Sin.

Locked up in the county jail last night, behind strong prison bars, was Maggie Dayton. She is a young girl, just budding into womanhood, though to judge by appearances, she would easily pass for 20. She is of medium height, fully developed, with rosy cheeks, bright sparkling eyes and pretty red lips, the parting of which discloses a set of regular teeth as white as snow. She was neatly dressed in black, and her actions are modest and retiring. Back of the fact that she is in jail there is the old, old story which has been told time and time again. The truth is, Maggie is wayward. Yesterday afternoon, as Sergeant Webb was on his way home to supper, he was accosted by a woman in front of Jimmie Lee's saloon on Canal street. She gave her name as Mrs. Dayton and said that her daughter was inside the saloon. That she went in to bring her out, but the girl had disappeared, and the bartender denied her presence. Sergeant Webb investigated. The bartender again denied that there had been a girl answering the description of the one inquired for about the place. The woman was sent to police headquarters, where she told her story to Captain Johnson, who detailed Detective Kennedy to make a search. He did so, and found the girl in a room up stairs over the saloon, and brought her to police headquarters, where she told a sad story, implicating a well-known business man in her early downfall. With tears in her eyes she begged for her liberty, but Captain Johnson concluded to hold her until more was learned of the case. The mother was frantic with grief, and declares that today she will swear out a warrant for the arrest of her daughter's destroyer. At the jail last night Maggie was not so down hearted as one would expect to find her. She occasionally laughed heartily as she narrated the following: "My mother is the cause of all this trouble. I know she is. I don't know what I am in here for; positively I don't; but I think my mother imagines I have been running around considerably of late, and I suppose I have, but she needn't have had me locked up. She wants me to go with her, but I won't do it. I promised her I would, but I won't now. I'll tell you just how this all happened. My mother and my father separated some years ago, and my sister and I went to live with my mother. About four or five months ago she rented rooms in the block, No. 169 South Division street, where we lived until two months ago. My sister learned dressmaking. We never got along well together. My mother never seemed like a mother to us. Then she broke up housekeeping and told us we would have to go out in the cold world and hustle for ourselves. I went to work at the Warwick hotel, where I stayed until two weeks ago. I quit and have since been staying with a girl in a room on Canal street. This man I have told about is a cousin of mine by marriage, and on his wife's account I shall never testify against him. I will suffer anything. I will rot in a cell first before I will tell about him."

Held For Trial.
Burt Schintema, Arie Schintema and Arie Schintema, et al., arrested by Detectives Gates and Gast about two months ago for receiving stolen goods, were held for trial in the superior court yesterday afternoon, their attorney waiving further examination. The respondents own a meat market on East Fulton street. The goods received were stolen by three boys, Kipp, Rockstate and Bogart, from A. Vonk & Sons grocery, No. 840 Wealthy avenue. The first named boy sold a box of cigars to one of the Schintema boys and obtained permission to store some tobacco and cigars in the cellar under the meat market.

Saved a Building in Two.
People passing along Plainfield avenue yesterday were surprised to observe Marshal Bragg, with several assistants, energetically engaged in sawing about five feet off the front of a building, located on that thoroughfare, near Taylor street. The structure projects into the street. A resolution was passed by the common council in 1882 ordering this, and another building, next to it, moved back, the penalty for default being that the marshal would saw off the projecting portion. The mandate was not complied with in regard to the building in question.

For Cuffing a Boy.
Charles Snyder was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Hendricks Neyhaat and arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon for striking Adam Haehn, a small boy. The latter, with several other lads, were sliding down hill when they became involved in a quarrel with Mr. Snyder's son. He separated them, and young Haehn pelted him with snow balls. This provoked him and he cuffed the youngster, whose stepmother made complaint. Snyder pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $3.50.

Claims His Horses Are Exempt.
Returns on appeal were made from Justice Brown's court to the county clerk yesterday in the case of Thomas Lillibridge vs. Chauncey Lillibridge. The plaintiff in the case says that the defendant sued an attachment out of Justice Hydon's court and took possession of a team of horses which under the law were exempt, and it is alleged that the action was taken with the intention of injuring the plaintiff, who wants his horses returned to him.

Bates Street Opening Case.
In the matter of opening and widening Bates street, from the east line of East street to the city limits, condemnatory proceedings were opened in the superior court yesterday. Appearances of Mabel Kennedy, Edith Vincent, Jas. Kennedy and Cora M. Heston were ordered. The sheriff was ordered to prepare a list of twenty-four freeholders from which to select a jury. The list was struck and the venire made returnable today.

They Were Mismatched.
Jemie Smith began a suit for divorce in the circuit court yesterday against her husband, William T. Smith. She says in her bill that she married the defendant June 20, 1891, and that soon after, disregarding the solemnity of his marriage vows, he began to treat her shamefully, frequently getting drunk and refusing to support her. Her grounds are drunkenness, extreme cruelty and non-support.

Razor Thief Held for Trial.
On complaint of Refredo Redell, A. C. Huffman, colored, was arrested by Detectives Gast and Jakaway as he was about to leave the city with four razors, a pair of shears and one pair of clippers, belonging to the complainant, in his possession. He was arraigned in police court yesterday on the charge of larceny, waived examination and was held for trial at the present term of the superior court.

Cook "Cooked" a Clock.
George Cook, for whom the police have been searching for a week past, was arrested yesterday afternoon on suspicion of having burglarized the Walker school house on West Leonard street. He is charged with stealing a clock and a number of newly-sharpened pencils belonging to one of the fair teachers, who identified the property which was found in his possession.

Shot Her in the Neck.
A boy named Bissell accidentally shot the 11-year-old daughter of H. Wehlgenmuth, residing at the corner of Webster and Hamilton streets. The youngster was toying with a Flobert rifle when the weapon was discharged, the bullet striking the girl in the neck. Dr. Apply removed the missile. The wound is not dangerous.

Cash Against Jackson Nolle Pro'd.
The case against Robert Jackson, arrested for committing a felonious assault upon Rickie Van Dort, was nolle prossed upon motion of the prosecuting attorney in police court yesterday. The child assaulted was spirited away by her mother and cannot be found.

She Wanted Assistance.
A woman claiming to be the wife of Charles Wilson, the acrobat who was seriously injured while performing with the Haulon brothers in Boston some time ago, yesterday applied to the police for assistance to enable her to reach her home in Iowa.

Court Notes.
Thomas M. Pierce, Charles T. Stearns and Fred J. Nicholas, copartners of the late firm of Thomas M. Pierce & Co., have begun suit in chancery in the circuit court to foreclose a mortgage for $900. The mortgage was originally given to Frank W. Curtis, who assigned it to Pierce & Co.
In the case of Willard Barnhardt against the Owashtanong Boat club an order was made by Judge Adsit in the circuit court yesterday setting aside the plea and placing the case on the calendar for the next term without notice. The two cases of John B. Grommes and Michael Ulrich, against the same corporation, were likewise disposed of.

LAW AND LAWYERS.
Circuit Court—Part I.

Superior Court.
JUDGE BURLINGAME.
In the matter of the opening of Bates street, from the east line of East street to the east city limits, appearances were ordered, and the petition was amended by striking out the names of John C. Heston and Cora Kennedy, wherever they occurred, and inserting the name of Cora Heston. The sheriff was ordered to prepare a list of twenty-four freeholders from which to select a jury. Jury struck and were ordered returned.

Probate Court.
JUDGE PERKINS.

Estate of Frank Childs, deceased; petition for probate will filed. Hearing March 21.
Estate of William Geppard, minor; letters of guardianship granted to Isabella Price.

Police Court Cases.
John Brophy was fined $5.55 in police court yesterday for conducting himself in a disorderly manner. He informed the court that he could pay up if given an opportunity to earn the money. The judge didn't want Brophy to lose his position and suspended sentence till March 1.
Thomas Higgins was arraigned in police court yesterday on the charge of larceny. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the county jail for a period of thirty days.

HOW SOME PEOPLE READ.
Several Authorities Claim That a Sauterling Is Better Than Depth.
There is a great deal of truth in the remark made by the dean of St. Paul's in Morley hall, Hackney, while distributing prizes to students of Lady Holmes' Middle Class school, that "education in these days is to a great extent superficial, a considerable portion of it being acquired merely for show and immediate appearances rather than for usefulness in life." But, after all, this wall is nothing new, comments the London Telegraph. Did not the Earl of Chesterfield advise his son to devote himself to the acquisition of literary scraps, which he could quote in company, and thus acquire the reputation of a well-read man at a small expenditure of the midnight oil? And did not the late Lord Neaves express the spirit of the time in the query: "What's the use of knowing, unless others know you know it?" This is an age of "Elegant Extracts." Everybody must have a smattering of as nearly everything as he can, and, after the manner of Dick Swiveller, sprinkle his conversation with quotations, like a shopkeeper who exposes all his stock in his window. The reverend gentleman, however, added that the education given at the Lady Holmes school was not of the showy kind now so much prevalent, but was of a sort that fitted the girls for the realities of life. Still the career of a young lady is made none the less attractive by a little superficial educational ornament.

From the German.
For ages the common slang phrase, or its equivalent, "in the soup," has in one form or another been in use among the Germans. "He sits in the soup" is used to indicate the situation of a man in misfortune by his own fault; "he has made a nice soup for himself" is used to indicate a ludicrous or ridiculous position in which one is placed by himself; "he must eat his own soup," with other expressions of this kind, is still in common use throughout Germany.

Wounded Professional Pride.
A.—Are those safes really burglar proof?
B.—Absolutely warranted! Not long ago a notorious burglar went and shot himself through mortification and wounded professional pride because he couldn't open one of our safes.—Schalk.

Tired Everything Else.
Mr. Borer—I've just taken my bicycle to the factory to have it fixed.
Miss Weary—Couldn't you tire it yourself?
Borer—Why, no; of course not.
Miss Weary—Well, then, that must be the one exception.—Boston Courier.

PECK'S DRUG STORE To Make Plants Bloom!

MARSHMALLOW SOAP

10 Cents Per Cake.

This soap is manufactured by Solon Palmer, New York. It is not made of tallow, but of French pomade. These pomades are used in making Palmer's extracts for the hands, cheeks. After the odor is washed from them by means of spirits, the residue pomade is manufactured into soap. Of course the supply of pomade is limited and the output of the soap small; but the quality is the best of any soap in the market, because the pomades are composed of the finest materials and are used for extracting the odor from the flowers. Each cake weighs five ounces. The suds are free from the alkaline soap, so injurious to tender hands and faces. We have had it branded "Marshmallow," to distinguish it from inferior soaps. It cannot be purchased in the dry goods stores, as the trade-mark "Marshmallow," by mutual agreement, belongs to Peck Bros., and we decline to sell it at wholesale. Try a box the Marshmallow Soap and decide upon its merits. 3c for three cakes.

Prof. S. T. Maynard,
Prof. of Floriculture,
Massachusetts Agricultural College, has written a little book,

"Window Gardening,"

which we send free with each package of our Flower Food.

This little book contains directions for plant's, potting and repotting house plants, slipping and rooting, wintering, washing and transplanting. Also, a treatise on decorative plants,

To Preserve Cut Flowers,

And, in short, about everything that a lover of flowers wants to know about her plants.
